My dear President Creelman:

We are looking for a man who could do work in Agricultural Economics. It would require to be rather advanced work, and we want a man who could keep the attention of honour students in the Department of Economics. Do you know of any such. The name of a Mr. Jarvis who I think is a graduate of Guelph and is now in Washington was mentioned to me as being a suitable person. Any information you can give me I would be grateful for.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dear President Creelman:

Many thanks for your letter. The man you mention seems very promising. I will keep him in mind and when I return from the West in a fortnight I will go into the matter more fully.

Hoping that your difficulties are lessening and with my best wishes and deep sympathy for you in all your undertakings,

I am,
Yours sincerely,

President.
